Hurray! Escrow closed at 12:56 (PST) today. I know that this only gives you through Thursday to move Uncle Jack out. If that will cause a problem, let me know so I can ask for more time.

I second that e-motion! My Mom, Dad and I picked up Jack on Wednesday morning, took him to Escrow where he picked up his check. We drove to the bank and he deposited it, then we went on to a good-bye lunch. As I type this, Jack is winging his way to Montreal - he left at 9:35 this morning. There was just a bit of a problem last night when Ronnie confronted him demanding to know why he was still there.

I don't know how to thank you for all of your assistance. I know that this is what you do for a living but I feel that you went beyond the job and exhibited true care for your client. You were always responsive and let me know what was happening; I truly appreciate it. While I am happy that everything is over and Jack will be with the family that he has left, I am sorry that we will not have the occasion to work with you again. I will recommend you highly should the opportunity ever arise and I thank you for your service to Jack.

With great respect and grateful thanks,
